

Neither record is consulted by the other half, so the two views of a resource can disagree.

Simplification: the models are logical partitions of one server, so every check is a local lookup.